BE CHALLENGED

Integrity

Working feverishly to a deadline of 100 minutes, teams of 10-20 people pit their intelligence around a circuit of tricky dimensional tasks. With only 20 minutes to solve each task, communication, leadership, and teamwork are all tested to the max. Unlike ordinary 'run of the mill' problem-solving exercises, Integrity breaks new ground by introducing a revolutionary new game dynamic where both the team, and their 'umpire' are scored on their performance. At the start of each task a volunteer umpire drops back from the outbound team to monitor the inbound team. Once time is up, that umpire scores the team according to seven performance criteria and the umpire is then scored by the team. Each team also holds five 'Integrity Stones' to award to the umpires at their discretion. After a mind-bending rotation of five physical conundrums, teams declare their total hard-earned score sheets plus 'Integrity Stones', and the winners are revealed.

Explore values, and a sense of 'what's right' in this clever, taxing, and well thought out sequence of challenges. Integrity offers an engaging platform where participants analyse communication, leadership, develop agile teams, and highlight individual personality traits. Balance your team's thinking in 100 minutes. The subtle underlying business message, gradually revealed through the course of the game, encourages participants to view the world from the perspective of their colleagues, customers and suppliers. Integrity offers a safe context in which to orientate appropriate behavior, examine company culture, create pro-active discussion, and prompt cohesive team decisions. As a personal quality of fairness, integrity is a value that we all aspire to. Having integrity means doing the right thing in a reliable way, and is a critical value for all forward-thinking, future facing companies to embrace.

We Built It

We Build It is a fun, unifying experience. This team building activity offers strong outcomes focusing on language, feedback and the importance of creating a step-by-step project strategy. It's also a great for emphasizing the idea that every member plays a vital role in a team's overall success. Participants are split into small groups. Their goal: replicate a model using simple elements and do it within a limited time frame. Teams start by allocating specific roles, then develop their own communications strategies. These strategies hold the keys to victory because each team's designated builder never gets to see the original model. All necessary information must be communicated down a chain of team members. Halfway through the event, team members switch up their roles.

The rules of this game have been optimized to highlight the essential principles for accurately conveying information. These same principles can improve communications with your customers, or between different teams or departments within a company. We wrap it all up with a short debrief session, where participants are encouraged to share their experiences and conclusions.

Jungle Escape

In this survival scenario, teams are challenged to work together to build a makeshift helicopter with only limited parts and each other. Jungle Escape's hands-on design enables players to discover and practice critical group-process skills such as team planning, problem solving, decision making, and conflict resolution. Before they know it, they've experienced first-hand the differences between a cohesive team and one that's fragmented or divergent.

Participants will accomplish all of this through one of our best team building games. Stranded in a jungle after surviving an airplane crash, teams are challenged to build a helicopter to exact specifications using only toy parts, limited access to an assembled model, and teamwork. Starting with a planning phase, they discuss how to execute the project, and then the construction begins! When the team believes they've properly built their aircraft, the facilitator checks the helicopter for accuracy and then records the amount of time you dedicate to planning and construction.

The winner? The team that spends the most time planning is typically the team that completes the project the fastest. Following the activity, team members take part in a discussion about team dynamics, offer insights, and create an action plan for improvement.

Minute To Win It

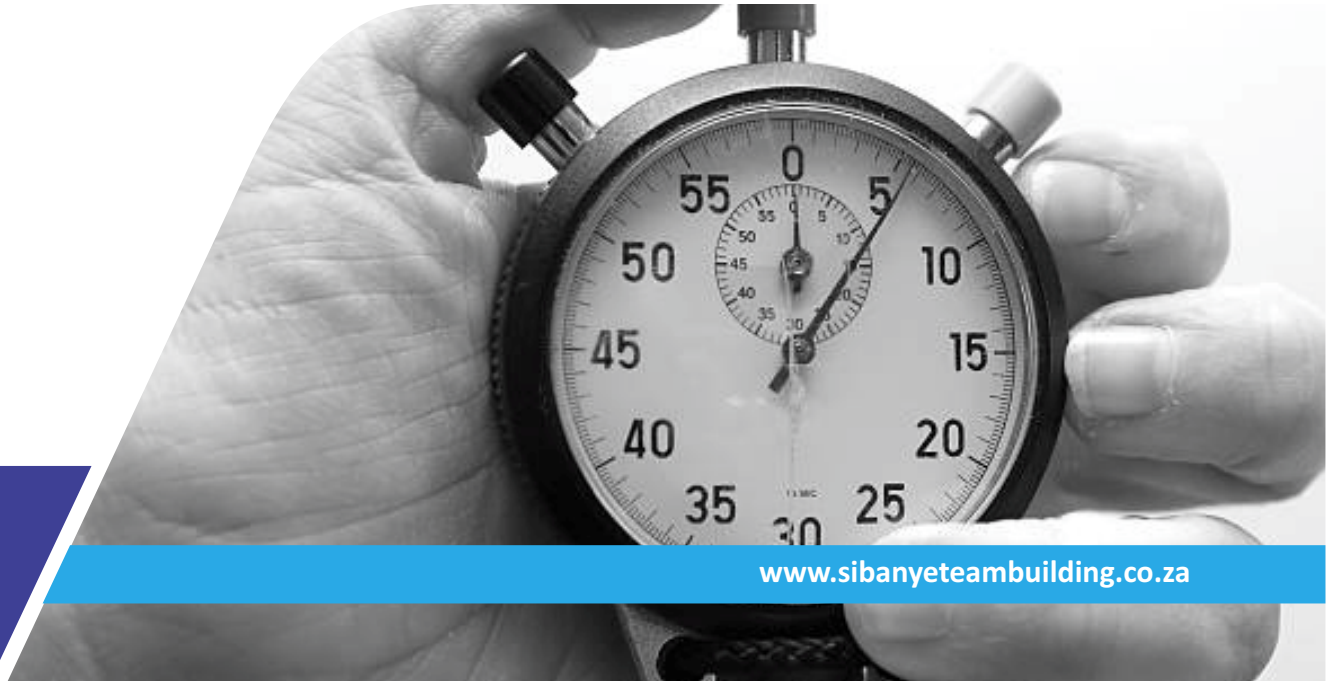

Fast, fun and action-packed series of 60 second challenges Inspired by TV game shows, the Win It In A Minute program is full of excitement and nail biting moments as your teams battle it out in various and bizarre 60 second challenges. As facilitators reveal each challenge, teams consult amongst themselves and decide which team member is best suited for the task. The challenges are all fun and inclusive, and the open format ensures everybody is encouraged to participate but can feel comfortable that they are not under any pressure to take centre stage.

While this program is lots of fun it does have the additional benefits of improving team communication skills, creating a team strategy and improving morale while team members get to know each other outside of the usual work environment.

Throughout the program facilitators update the points board to let your teams know their positions. There are a few other challenges and bonus activities on offer to allow teams to pick up some extra points, keeping the energy high throughout the entire activity.

The Rush

Sensational team building experience guaranteed to appeal to every delegate, while generating a sense of energy, urgency and competitive spirit. This exciting activity mirrors the challenges and rewards of real business. Your conference venue is literally paved with gold coins. It's a long story about how it got there, but in a nutshell it has been lost for so long that it is now considered “finders keepers”.

Your team's task is to go out there and get your hands on as much of the gold as possible. But if you think that this activity is a mere treasure hunt then you are in for a shock! You will be required to think and act on 8 levels simultaneously and only the teams that really understand the value of multitasking without losing focus will be successful at the end of the day.You will receive a printed assignment full of information that will help you to prioritise your approach. In addition, you will receive a host of resources; digital cameras, GPS navigation systems, 2-way radios and a whole lot more.

Some of the treasure is limited – only the first team there will get it. Other treasure is available for everyone who locates it. Along the way you can earn extra rewards by completing various tasks. The Rush is a great communication and strategy developer. It gets people talking, planning and sharing information from start to finish. The level playing field created by the The Rush makes this a compelling activity for a cross functional or top to bottom of the organisation event.

So stop telling your people the value of business intelligence, planning and communication and show them with The Rush. We promise that the rewards will be both instant and immense!

Mexican Railway

In Mexican Railway teams work together to assemble an intricate railway system and then compete against each other in a test of time management, ingenuity and communication. Using materials like zip ties and paper rods, teams work together to construct the railway, section by section. After a quick practice run, teams race their trains to the finish by cooperating and synchronising their movements.

This terrific ice breaker translates cooperative thinking into a spirited breakout session of competition and creative craftsmanship. In order to succeed teams, draw on their time management, ingenuity and communication skills. Mexican Railway creates an environment where each member works in unison while trying to stay ahead of the competition. It's a game that enhances quick thinking at both the individual and group level.

Chain Reaction

Teams create a series of madcap contraptions which when joined together with those from other teams become an elaborate chain reaction.

In this lively team building activity, teams collaborate to create fun tabletop contraptions. The idea is to design insanely complicated machines to accomplish simple tasks.

This activity offers a funny, engaging challenge designed to unleash creativity and foster healthy teamwork. The concept of making things far more complicated than they need to be is a powerful way to make the point that simple is usually better.

Once divided into smaller teams, your group will move into friendly competition mode as they design and assemble their own “simple” machines. Each team designs builds and tests a number of simple machines. But ultimately, each of their individual inventions must also work together as part of a greater whole. Since the mission is challenging, teams need to think strategically as they develop a common vision to bring their crazy inventions to life. Collaboration has never been so fun.

Using 'ideas cards', participants exchange energy transfer concepts with individuals from other team, they return to their team, share knowledge and discuss how to build their chain reaction machine with the materials they have in hand each team constructs a series of linked mechanisms. Teams collaborate to join their chain reaction to the next team's. Once complete the whole chain reaction is triggered to the delight and amazement of all!

Bridge Build

Your team must build a bridge. Tensions have been high between the two sides of the river for generations and the government hopes that this bridge will be a sign of future co-operation and friendship however; communication is still not free and open. The two construction teams may only communicate through appointed representatives who meet on neutral territory away from the construction sites according to a strict timetable. During their meetings only verbal communication is allowed. No drawings, materials or other objects are allowed. Effective communication will result in two matching designs that can be joined to form the friendship bridge. The bridge needs to be big enough, strong enough and stable enough to allow a large remote controlled vehicle to safely cross it.

Trading Game

Trading Game is a supercharged game of information gathering, haggling and building trust – an excellent networking activity or conference energiser. Trading Game is a fun, fast-moving and highly immersive business game that explores the skills of negotiation, information gathering and network building. It is particularly effective at bringing people together and breaking down barriers. The game is set in the lawless Wild West town of Dodge City in the 1860's – a time of great opportunity for the wise and quick-witted, but a place of potential disaster for the unwary and ill-informed. Each team plays a family that arrives in the city with few possessions – horses, beads, gold, leather, money and, most importantly, valuable information. Their goal is to maximise the value of their possessions, by using information they accumulate, as they build relationships and deal with the other families in town.

BE CREATIVE

Buid Your Own City

Build Your Own City is a fun, memorable experience that emphasizes strong team dynamics and group-wide collaboration. Planning, strategy and clear communication are essential to ensuring the zones of your city interconnect and flow smoothly. A defined time limit means you'll also be drawing on time and resource management skills.

Small teams are each assigned a specific zone to build. These include industrial, residential, leisure and business districts, plus interconnecting infrastructure features like roads, rail and waterways. Teams must collaborate effectively as they develop their plans – a shared vision helps maintain coherent flow across the various zones, so your city can function as a whole. The goal is for teams to make their sections as aesthetically pleasing as they are functional.

Once the individual sections are complete, we connect them all together to create a big reveal moment. This is a great time for everyone to stop and take in the full picture of what they've accomplished together. The results may not be perfect. But it's all part of the experience – with the right mindset, there are laughs and lessons to be shared from both the successes and failures.

Go Kart

The ultimate team test, where working effectively and efficiently means milliseconds - the difference between the podium and the pits! A modern Formula 1 car has almost as much in common with a jet fighter as it does with an ordinary car – and yours is not that dissimilar! Aerodynamics, traction control, suspension and other key areas can all be accounted for during the construction of your car. However, in the actual Grand Prix, factors such as race strategy, pit stop tactics and even driver fitness play a vital role.

Focus is on encouraging team members to think through the various tasks. Only by forming sub-teams and working in parallel can the incredible creations be achieved. With a good understanding of the end goal, this complex project can be broken down to keep the whole team productive and efficient with everyone's efforts being essential for a successful build. Just like professional racing, our Go-Kart Construction Challenge is about crew and driver. Your group will be split up into smaller racing teams whose goal will be to build a custom concept car for a people-powered race.

The first order of business will be to elect a Pit Crew Boss. The Pit Boss will provide overall supervision for this team challenge. Once the team has decided on a theme for their car, the Pit Boss will assign each team member a role. Each team member must work together in their various roles if they are to revel in the winner's circle. Each team develops a blueprint design that must be approved by Event staff for safety. The concept car must have a chassis and body. Team members must build their race car according to their blueprints. While the car is under construction, other team members will decorate a set of drivers coveralls with the team's theme. Their lucky driver will wear the uniform for the big race: a race that will be team-powered To fire up the team spirit and prepare their driver for competition, team members will create and perform their very own “Champions' Chant”. All concept cars must pass a safety inspection before they will be allowed to race. Once inspection is passed, drivers will suit up and prepare for competition.

Go Kart

Teams will race against each other and the clock to see who will make it to the final Winner's Circle. Award medals will be presented for Best Pit Crew, 1st Place Finish and Best Overall Team. Aspects of the program may be modified depending on venue restrictions, program length, and group size. There is plenty of creativity with 'pimping' of the cars, and practice makes perfect as the final race is won or lost in the pit stop.

Hands On Canvas

Teams collaborate to create a hand painting logo. On arrival participants are invited to roll up their sleeves, pick a colour of choice and roller one hand with a thin layer of water based paint. Instantly relaxed and primed with pigment, everybody is encouraged to put their hand prints anywhere on a huge blank canvas. After a quick clean up people grab a marker to sign off their creation. The finished canvas can be displayed throughout the meeting as a unique talking point and returned to your offices as a lasting statement of oneness.

Shared experience cements relationships. The practical 'get dirty' nature of the experience sets a level playing field, encourages the natural flow of conversation and supportive behaviour. By opening their palms, all participants 'sign in' to the day with a dramatic statement of collaboration.

Some Of Our Clients

Testimonials

"I just want to say thank you for a wonderful time we had with my team during our team building in Muldersdrift. First I want to thank you for the hospitable and excellent venue, I will sure spread the word within the company and outside. We were received with such warmth and care, the staff, the food, the environment, our conference area, shoo, we felt like royalty. Your team building facilitators, "what an excellent team you have, those boys know what they are doing, they are so assertive and so positive. We came back with a new team, new spirit and we are looking forward to working closer and I'm sure we are going to make things happen together.

Thank you once more"

- NHBRC

"Thank you for the effort you put into our teambuilding session last Friday, we had a wonderful time. Everybody enjoyed all the different events."

- FASSET

"Our Directors RAVED about your company, thank you for being so well organized".

- ITEC CONNECT GROUP

"We want you to know that we are very pleased with the quality of service your company provides. We sincerely appreciate your responsiveness and the way you conduct business. We have recommended your company to others because of our satisfaction with your service. We look forward to doing business with you in the future".

- MARIE STOPES SOUTH AFRICA

"This was a first team building experience for some of our staff members, and they greatly enjoyed it as all of us. The games were fun and the facilitators did a great job of explaining and running the games. It exceeded our expectations. The environment, atmosphere and the venue were different in a good way. It made us feel free and be able to communicate with one another and get to know one another better. The activities were really fun and team orientated. The prizes were very good, we didn't expect them and they were a real surprise to us. We would like to thank the organisers, that was a great moment we had and we needed also hope that it was not the last one.

Congratulations on a job well done"

- MONTECASINO (MARKETING TEAM)

"Thank you so much to you and the team for arranging such a wonderful event for us on 15 March 2023. We truly felt the energy and the activities brought lots of laughter and excitement to the staff. It made us think differently, collaborate, share ideas, and work together to achieve the goal. The meals and desserts were delicious and were enjoyed by all. We also appreciated that the award was given to the Absa home loan region which acknowledged the entire team's effort.

Thank you for all your hard work in arranging everything, it was definitely an experience to remember."
